

I recently upgraded with Dish TV and my waiver for NBC was taken away. I live at the bottom of the mountain where I can't get a signal from the air. It is nice to have local news, but now I do not get the Ellen show. This is my favorite show and since I can't have a waiver to get the east and west coast NBC channels I am stuck with this little dinky WVIR Channel 29 in Charlottesville. They broadcast local sports during primetime so I can't watch regular NBC programming. What's with this? Isn't this a free country where we should be able to buy TV if we want to? Thanks,
Donita Hoyer